

Code Of Practice

1. Members must conduct their businesses in properly licensed premises.
2. Members holding appropriate licenses are to comply with all UK legal requirements and operate procedures in accordance with the Duty of Care (DOC) Regulations.
3. All recovered materials to be supplied in accordance with the accepted industry standards or grade specifications as agreed between buyer and seller.
4. Local variations in material quality may be specified by arrangement between buyer and seller.
5. Members to have proper Health and Safety Procedures in place and offer appropriate training programmes in their applications.
6. All members to recognise the need for quality inspection of material.
7. Members of the Association to be properly registered legal entities in the UK or the EU, financially sound, credit-worthy and registered for VAT.
8. Members in the supply chain to carry the appropriate insurances to protect their business's and third party interests.
9. Members should be willing to be subject to a third party audit of any relevant QA procedures.
10. All members of the Association must be committed to supply statistical information on a confidential basis to the Association for collation of National Statistics to aid monitoring against Government targets/regulations
11. Members to conduct their business in such a manner as not to bring the industry into disrepute.